More Than You Know

Spoken

I'd burn an empire
If I could hold you close
But I'm in exile aloneI had the world in my hands
So much, so much for them to hold
Now I'm in exile aloneMy heart is so low on the line
Look in my eyes
My heart is so low on the lineI was wrong and finally I realised
We're looking through different eyes
I'd give the world just to hold you tonight
And finally I realised when looking into your eyes
You are much more so much more than you know
So much more than you knowI'll never understand
I held the world in my hands
Why would you trust me with your heart
Now I have no one left to go
My soul now has no hope
So I'm in exile aloneMy heart is so low on the line
Look in my eyes
My heart is so low on the lineI was wrong and finally I realised
We're looking through different eyes
I'd give the world just to hold you tonight
And finally I realised when looking into your eyes
You are much more so much more than you knowLook in my eyes
So much more than you know
Now I have no where left to go
My soul has now has no home
So I'm in exile alone
Now I have no where left to go
My soul has now has no home
So I'm in exile aloneI was wrong and finally I realised
We're looking through different eyes
I'd give the world just to hold you tonight
And finally I realised when looking into your eyes
You are much more so much more than you knowI was wrong and finally I realised
I was wrong and finally I realised
I'd give the world just to hold you tonight

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/