

When I Think About Angels

Jamie O'neal

Why does the color of my coffee match your eyes?

Why do I see you when a stranger passes by?

I swear, I hear you in the whisper of the wind

I feel you when the sun is dancin' on my skin

And when it's rainin'

You won't find me complainin' 'cause

When I think about rain

I think about singin'

When I think about singin'

It's a heavenly tune

When I think about Heaven then

I think about agels

When I think about angels

I think about you

The taste of sugar sure reminds me of your kiss

I like the way that they both linger on my lips

Kisses remind me of a field of butterflies

Must be the way the heart is fluttering inside

Beautiful distraction

You make every thought a chain reaction

When I think about rain

I think about singin'

When I think about singin'

It's a heavenly tune

When I think about Heaven then

I think about angels

When I think about angels

I think about you

Anywhere I go

Anything I do

Everything around me, baby

Makes me think of you

When I think about rain

I think about singin'

When I think about singin'

It's a heavenly tune

When I think about Heaven then

I think about angels

When I think about agels

I think about you
When I think about rain
I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about angels
When I think about angels
I think about you
When I think about rain
I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about angels
When I think about angels
I think about you
