Lucky You

Beth Thornley

Every time, you get a drink
And every time, you go to sleep
Are those dreams inside your head
Is there sunlight on your bed
And every time, you're drivin' home
Way outside your safety zone
Wherever you will ever be
You're never getting rid of me
You own me
There's nothing you can do
You own me
You could've made a safer bet
But what you break is what you get
You wake up in the bed, you make
I think you made a big mistake
You own me
There's nothing you can do
You own me
You own me
Lucky you
You own me
There's nothing you can do
You clean yourself to meet
The man who isn't me
You're puttin' on a shirt
A shirt I'll never see
The letter's in your coat
But no one's in your head
'Cause you're too smart to remember
You're too smart
Lucky you
Lucky you
Lucky you
