Dikta

this is where it all began what a piece of work is man he stands with no spine and no one else can say to me it's over now, you changed the sea because the passenger is all mine if you fall and lose it all just leave it alone
'cause if I fall and lose it all I'll throw the first stone I tried to get him out of there I pushed and shoved and pulled his hair he sat there and stared forever and a day it takes to make me learn from my mistakes over and over, I'm not prepared but misery loves company when he is here I'm less lonely where else can I turn when I'm betrayed? but worst of all is finding out being sure and beyond any doubt that I am the one who cannot be saved it breaks my heart to feel it start he grabs the wheel but now I feel I'm here with no fear my oldest friend lets not pretend I'll never listen again I'll never fall and lose it all I left it alone
I'll never fall and lose it all I don't have the stone
