Heartstrings

Ed Masuga

let me tune my heartstrings they've fallen out of tune
let me tune my heartstrings so they can harmonize with you there's a time that i'm remembering when the music flowed so true but lately it's been descending towards an interlude

we're not singing in the same key no longer making any melody but what would become of the harmony if only sung from memory

i know that you've been listening to the notes that don't quite blend but if you let me tune my heartstrings we can fall in love again

[interlude]

we can fall in love
we can fall in love
