

Better Not to Know (feat. Vince Gill)

Amy Grant

We sowed our seeds, watered with tears
Waiting for signs for growth, took months of days
And then took years
We took our steps, we took our falls
Somewhere along the way we just got lost
And we lost it all But nothing ventured, nothing gained
The risk of living is the pain
And what will be will be, anyway Oh, it's better not to know
The way it's gonna go
What will die and what will grow
Goodbye more than hello
It's better not to know Those tiny stems became these trees
With dirt and storm and sun and air to breathe
Like you and me
And some fell down, and some grew tall
And those surviving twenty winter thaws
Have the sweetest fruit of all But innocence and planting day
Are both long gone, so much has changed
And if we had to do it all again Oh, it's better not to know
The way it's gonna go
What will die and what will grow
Oh, nothing stays the same
Life flickers like a flame, as the seasons come and go
Goodbye more than hello
It's better not to know Is it better, better not to know
We sowed our seeds, watered with tears Oh, it's better not to know
The way it's gonna go
What will die and what will grow. oh
Oh, nothing stays the same
Life flickers like a flame, as the seasons come and go
Goodbye more than hello
Because of what we've sown
It's better not to know
