

Well Meaning Fiction

Mainstay

Dull the edge so that it's softer
And it won't offend their ears
Water down to make it simple
You could sell it anywhere But now it seems you're disenchanted
And you're wanting more You're afraid to reason
Your love is saving no one
The market is open
If it's easy we will buy it all And I watched you let yourself out
Like you had something to prove
But you're more than who you're sleeping with
And I know it bothers you And now it seems you're disenchanted
But you've got to save face You're afraid to reason
Your love is saving no one
The market is open
If it's easy we will buy it all Praising all your feelings they are only fiction
If you search for comfort you won't find it
In the end we don't get to answer to ourselves You're afraid to reason
Your love is saving no one
The market is open
If it's easy we will buy it all
