

You Know He Knows

Roman Holiday

He's been under her veins
Screaming her name
Hoping she will hear
And open the door

She misses his heavy heart
The look in his eyes
She misses the way he tastes
When she's making him cry

Your sun will rise
If you'd step outside

But you know he knows
You know he knows better
You know he knows
You know he knows better

She's been shaking her fist
Cursing the sky
On her knees begging God
For just one more try

When darkness falls
You pray he calls

But you know he knows
You know he knows better
You know he knows
You know he knows better

Hope all you want to
That love will still want you
And pray all you can, dear
That love will withstand, dear

But you know he knows
You know he knows better
You know he knows
You know he knows better
