No Good About Goodbye

Shirley Bassey

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Where is the solace that I crave?
Will it still haunt me to my grave?
Too broken to forgive
Too painful to relive nowThere may be other arms to hold
They'll only keep me from the cold
There always be a space
A fact I have to face nowHow long does a heart stay broken?
How long if the pain's unspoken?
No solace in a kiss
No comfort in the sigh
No good about goodbyeMy heart is no good at pretending
It knows that the hurts never ending
No solace in a kiss
No comfort in the sigh
No good about goodbyeThere's only so much you can give
Only a fool forgets to live
And easy thing to say
The pass will go away nowHow long does a heart stay broken?
How long if the pain's unspoken?
No solace in a kiss
No comfort in the sigh
No good about goodbyeMy heart is no good at pretending
It knows that the hurts never ending
No solace in a kiss
No comfort in the sigh
No good about goodbyeI'll never be yours so come to your senses
Before you make your move
Think of the consequencesHow long does a heart stay broken?
How long if the pain's unspoken?
No solace in a kiss
No comfort in the sigh
No good about goodbyeMy heart is no good at pretending

It knows that the hurts never ending
No solace in a kiss
No comfort in the sigh
No good about goodbyeNo good about goodbye
No good about goodbye

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/