

Low Light Buddy Of Mine

Iron & Wine

In the wake I'm waiting for the light to change
Is about your mind, but I can't complain. He can make a lot of money, he can touch his toes,
He knows he never looked to the lights alone. I love you and you love me,
So we never demand and we never agree I love you and you love me
And there's a new fruit humming in the old fruit trees In the wake I'm waiting in a parking lot
He's jealous of me and what we've got He can rattle his bell in shining shoe
And never in doubt where I found you I love you and you love me,
So we don't get back and we don't say please I love you and you love me
And there's a new fruit humming in the old fruit trees 'Cause in the wake I'm waiting for the rain to pass
He's a buddy of mine, but that won't last 'Cause he ended down there on an empty cup
We both took him full and he showed up. 'Cause I love you and you love me,
So we both get stuck and we both get free. I love you and you love me
And there's a new fruit humming in the old fruit trees

Songwriters

SAMUEL ERVIN BEAM Published by

Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>