

Bleed Like Me

Trapt

How can nails scratch the deepest?
Have you broken skin this time?
Made your mark and took me deeper
As you drown me with your eyes
Held my hand over your mouth
As you scream at me to feel
But my scars with understanding
I can't promise anything
Can you tell, that I pick my poison well
That I have no more to sell to you?
Is it really that important that I settle down?
Does it really even matter that I have my doubts?
I search for the one who bleeds
I reach for the one who bleeds
I forget to dream in color
I am better off alone
An assault or undercover
We are shadows on our own
Lose ourselves in open waters
Always swimming back to shore
My addictions have no boundaries
Now I'm crying out for more
Can you tell, that I pick my poison well
That I have no more to sell to you?
Is it really that important that I settle down?
Does it really even matter that I have my doubts?
I search for the one who bleeds
I reach for the one who bleeds like me
I have my doubts
I have my doubts and so does everybody else
So help me take this all away
You gotta help me take this all the way
Please help me take this all the way
And bleed like me
So help me take this all away
You gotta help me take this all the way
Please help me take this all the way
And bleed like me
Is it really that important that I settle down?

Does it really even matter that I have my doubts?

I search for the one who bleeds

I reach for the one who bleeds

I reach for, I reach for, I reach for, I reach for

I reach for the one who bleeds like me
