Collision

Gert Emmens

Can you understand my meaning hidden
In the roses around my eyes
I want you to know how much it means
To have you in my life
Your love brings me close again in this instance
This single moment when our worlds collide
The wire of eternity twists around us
I can feel this river rising, moving up my back
Some things never change
Some things never go away
Some things never change
Some things never go away
I could never forget you
And I will never be the same
I could never forget you
And I will never be the same
Some things never change
Some things never go away
I could never forget you
And I will never be the same

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/