Stories We Could Tell

The Mavericks

Before this night began, I was the kind of man
Who never shivered in his shoes
That was about to change and there was nothing I could do
As sure as night is day, they used to say
Fools fall way too fast
The only thing this time is you're going to be my lastSo let me carry on and move us right along
Right to the point of no return
Sure enough, there is no place I would rather be After you walked in all the lights went dim
And the music played all night
I may exaggerate, but that's what you are to meSo if you knew me really well
Think of the stories you would tell
About the greatest love in all of history
Two strangers in the night
Here's our moment, wrong or right
It's forever now or never meant to beSo let me carry on and move us right along
Right to the point of no return
Sure enough, there is no place I'd rather be You're wonderful, remarkable
And everything in between
I may exaggerate but that's what you are to meSo if you knew me really well
Think of the stories you would tell
About the greatest love in all of history
Two strangers in the night
Here's our moment, wrong or right
It's forever now or never meant to beSo if you knew me really well
Think of the stories you would tell
About the greatest love in all of history
Two strangers in the night
Here's our moment, wrong or right
It's forever now or never meant to be

Songwriters
Raul Malo, Wally WilsonPublished by Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/