Celebrate You

Steven Curtis Chapman

I'm no stranger to your gentle reminders
That the world does not revolve around me
But no sooner have you spoken the words
Then your love comes once again to surround meAnd every time I look in your eyes
I see the reflections of myself
But this time I want to look deeper
And see you and nobody elseSo tell me what you think and tell me what you feel
I want to hear the thunder I'm so quick to steal
Listen to the dreams you're dreaming and celebrate you, yeahLet me show you what a treasure you are
A priceless gift from Heaven to this thankful heart
I want to take this lifetime to celebrate you, yeah
And I want to celebrate youI have heard you say so many times
How you're sorry you're not everything you should be
So let me tell you this one more time
There's no way you could be any more precious to meBut I know that lovely flowers and phrases
Are not what you need the most from me
You're longing for someone to listen
And that's what I want to learn how to beSo tell me what you think, oh tell me what you feel
I want to hear the thunder, I'm so quick to steal
Listen to the dreams you're dreaming and celebrate you, yeahAnd let me show you, oh what a treasure you are
A priceless gift from Heaven to this thankful heart
I want to take this lifetime to celebrate you yeah
I want to celebrate you yeah, I want to celebrate you
I want to celebrate you, want to celebrate you
Celebrate you, celebrate youI want to share your laughter
And I want to share your tears
We're gonna share this life together
And I'm gonna celebrate you, celebrate youI want to share your laughter
I want to share your tears
We're gonna share this life together
And I'm gonna celebrate you, celebrate you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/