Lemonade

K.I.D.

Just tell me his name, just tell me you didn't get laid on our bedroom
And was it the same? Just tell me if his dick is bigger than mine
Do you remember the way it was when I was home
Before I left you all alone?
Now I wanna be eighty on the porch drinking lemonade with you
And it's all that I can think about when you tell me that you cheated
Eighty on the porch drinking lemonade with you
And it's all that I can think about when you tell me that you cheated on me
I knew that you would, I knew 'cause ya told me it runs in your family
And I did the same, so I guess that I deserve half of the blame
Do you remember the way it was for us
Before all of the blow jobs on the bus?
Now I wanna be eighty on the porch drinking lemonade with you
And it's all that I can think about when you tell me that you cheated
Eighty on the porch drinking lemonade with you
And it's all that I can think about when you tell me that you cheated
When you tell me that you cheated
What should I care about the long run
What should it matter to me?
I always knew id end up with no one
And now I know the end is near 'cause you've replaced me
Just tell me his name
Just tell me you didn't get laid in our bedroom
Just tell me his name
Just tell me if his dick is bigger than mine
Just tell me his name
Just tell me you didn't get laid in our bedroom
Just tell me his name
Just tell me you didn't get laid on our bedroom

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/