

Daddy's Falling Angel

In This Moment

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

[Incomprehensible] Pull these scars off my eyes
Lost from the world
A child searching for her dad You left me there alone
With him to rape my world
And I lived through the years, a girl
Pleading why In my dreams last night I saw your face
You held me and washed away my tears
Then I woke to realize you're gone
I'm drowning in solitude again I thank God for my mother's love
Through years of broken innocence
She carried me through the light In my dreams last night I saw your face
You held me and washed away my tears
Then I woke to realize you're gone
I'm drowning in solitude again When you realize that fate is gone
Just look at me and say goodbye So tell me how you fell
So tell me how
As these years and time go racing by
I'm drowning in solitude again
[Incomprehensible] No, this won't kill me
No, this won't kill me
No, this won't kill me
No, this won't kill me In my dreams last night I saw your face
You held me and washed away my tears
Then I woke to realize you're gone
I'm drowning in solitude again
In solitude, in solitude again This won't kill me
This won't kill me
This won't kill me
This won't

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>