

Sleep

Poets of the Fall

Hear your heartbeat beat a frantic pace
And it's not even seven a.m.
You're feeling the rush of anguish settling
You cannot help showing them in Hurry up then or you'll fall behind and
They will take control of you
And you need to heal the hurt behind your eyes
Fickle words crowding your mind
So sleep sugar, let your dreams flood in
Like waves of sweet fire, you're safe within
Sleep sweetie, let your floods come rushing in
And carry you over to a new morning
Try as you might you try to give it up
Seems to be holding on fast
It's hand in your hand a shadow over you
A beggar for soul in your face
Still it don't mater if you won't listen
If you won't let it follow you
You just need to heal make good all your lies
Move on and don't look behind
So sleep sugar, let your dreams flood in
Like waves of sweet fire, you're safe within
Sleep sweetie, let your floods come rushing in
And carry you over to a new morning
Day after day
Fickle visions messing with your head
Fickle, vicious sleeping in your bed
Messing with your head fickle visions, fickle, vicious
Sleep sugar, let your dreams flood in
Like waves of sweet fire, you're safe within
Sleep sweetie, let your floods come rushing in
And carry you over to a new morning
Sleep sugar, let your dreams flood in
Like waves of sweet fire, you're safe within
Sleep sweetie, let your floods come rushing in
And carry you over to a new morning

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>