You're A Rebel

Dropkick Murphys

Backed up against the wall
The animal makes his final stand
He spits and growls and shows his teeth
He's a foreigner in his own land
When there's nowhere else to run
You're a rebel
No more battles to be one
You're a rebel
Stands out there with his pride
Fights with no one on his side
You're a rebel
Without mercy the pack descends
Hear the cries of justice are in his defense
With a smug satisfaction they strip him bare
They kill the soul that should have flourished there
When there's nowhere else to run
You're a rebel

No more battles to be one
You're a rebel
Stands out there with his pride
Fights with no one on his side
You're a rebel
You're a rebel and not a winner
You're a fighter and now you're bloodied
You're a rebel and not a winner
You're a fighter and now you're bloodied
You're a rebel and not a winner
You're a fighter and now you're bleeding
Without mercy the pack descends
Hear the cries of justice are in his defense
With a smug satisfaction they strip him bare
They kill the soul that should have flourished there

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/