

Neverevereverdid

Architecture in Helsinki

Just yesterday
I was walking on the moon with your stalker
And we talked about love and all the battles we'd won
A permanent malaise
Prevented us from hiding our fortunes
So we left them bare for all the natives to see
One of two things wish I had but never did
One of two things wish I had but never did
Slender is the finger
Points towards the floor
Offers you an excuse
To be on all fours
One of two things wish I had but never did
One of two things wish I had but never did
