Best Weapon

Something for Kate

From a walk to a run
By the time they're done there is only rust
And the official language of fucked up and static
And before he speaks
His machines all agree lets wind them up and march them out
History repeated and read out loudThis could be our best weapon now
Said, hey don't look nowStripes and suits pushing the numbers through
They treat them like they don't exist
And they count them up like they're matchsticks
And they don't recognise until spoken in a headline
They're just more words
They're just more words that I can't wait to unlearn
I can't waitThis could be our best weapon now Better keep your head down

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/