

Daphne Descends

Smashing Pumpkins

With the sugar sickness you spy the kidnap kid
Who kids you to oblivion
It's the perfect hassle for the perfumed kiss
He makes you miss him more than home You love him, you love him more than this
You love him and you cannot, you can't resist
You love him, you love him for yourself
You love him and no one, no one else Past sidewalk ashes a last lovers arc
You come apart to intertwine
It was all so simple as you watched him move
Across the darkness in your room You love him, you love him for yourself
You love him and no one, no one else And the winding vines the pretty boys dive
And through the pinhole stars into the shadow mind
You will lose him then on some gentle dawn
This boy is here and gone You love him, you love him for yourself
You love him and no one, no one else
You love him, you love him more than this
You love him and you cannot, you can't resist You love him, you love him, you love him, you love him, you love him
You love him, you love him, you love him, you love him, you love him

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>