

The River Knows Your Name

John Hiatt

Oh the river knows your name
And your tears falling like the rain
All around you suffering and pain
Oh the river knows your name And the river hears you cry
As the lightning cracks the open sky
As your Momma sings a lullaby
Oh the river she knows why Let the river wash you down
Beneath the surface
With a rushing sound
Like a freight train passing through a town
Let the river wash you down Let the river take away
All the words
That you and I could never say
In the silence Darling let us pray
Let the river take it all away

Songwriters

HIATT, JOHN Published by

Lyrics © Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>