By the Blink of an Eye

Bombshell Rocks

Sometimes I get this creeping fear
I don't know where to, where to go from here
Everything seems like a waste of time
It's so frustrating
'Cause everything comes in a rhymeWell, I'm used to feeling blue
Now it's time I pay my bills
It's time I pay my dues
Oh oh, oh yeah, I hear the bell ringing
It's time to grab hold of thingsThis feeling can be denied
Just for once, I'm gonna do things right
From words to action by the blink of an eye
And there's so little timeI find myself falling
Falling into the unknown
I find myself falling
It's time to goAnd I, I can't sneak out the back
No, that's too easy, I'm gonna choose my track
This is the very final call
I lift myself up
And bang my head against the wallThis feeling can be denied
Just for once I'm gonna do things right
From words to action by the blink of an eye
And there's so little timeI find myself falling
Falling into the unknown
I find myself falling
It's time to goThis feeling can be denied
Just for once I'm gonna do things right
From words to action by the blink of an eye
And there's so little timeI find myself falling
Falling into the unknown
And I find myself falling
Falling into the unknownI find myself falling
Falling into the unknown
I find myself falling
Falling into the unknown
