Till the Day Breaks

Kristin Scott Benson

When the darkness closes in and I can't see your face,
You have made a way for me, Ancient of Days
You have whispered to my soul "this is not the end"
You have poured eternity in the hearts of men

Till the day breaks and the shadows fade away
You have poured a living hope inside this jar of clay

And if I find that nothing in this world Can cure my need
I am reminded of my home that waits with you for me
So I will follow where you lead through the shadow lands
I will call your name out in the darknes and lift my weary hands

Till the day breaks and the shadows fade away
You have poured a living hope inside this jar of clay
You have poured a living hope inside this jar of clay

Lyrics Submitted by Monte B

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/