Walk Away

Lara Fabian

When I woke up today
I could have sworn you were the man
That would never betray
I could have sworn you were my life
And my dream, and my faith
In one moment you took that all away
Did you break me to see if I'd break?
Did you wanna know what I was made of big mistake?
'Cause there is nothing now that you or anyone can say
So save your breathe and walk away
And your excuses, they make me wanna scream
I could have sworn you were the man
That would never, never be mean
I could have sworn you were the light
In the end of the dark for me
But you proved that it's never what it seems

Did you break me to see if I'd break?
Did you wanna know what I was made of big mistake?
'Cause there is nothing now that you or anyone can say
So save your breathe and walk away
How can I look at you the same way?
Nothing is the same as it was
How can I touch you in same way?
Will never be the same
Did you break me to see if I'd break?
Did you wanna know what I was made of big mistake?
'Cause there is nothing now that you or anyone can say
So save your breathe and walk away
Just save your breathe and walk away
God knows why I could have sworn you were the man
That would never betray

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/