

All of Me

Meat Loaf

I caught a glimpse of myself today
Wasn't a pretty picture, I must say
Well, I threw a dagger of poison words
Straight for my heart, was it deserved? Well, it's too late to make up some excuse
And say it wasn't me, well, what's the use?
Oh, you've seen too much
Ooh, let me introduce you to This is my anger, this is my shame
These are my insecurities that I can't explain
This is my fortress, crumbling 'round my feet
Take a good look, baby, this is all of me They found that nerve deep in my soul
Poised and ready to explode
And no one else on earth but you
Could get close enough to light that fuse And you crawled up underneath my skin
Crept now through my veins and through my head
Ooh, you got so deep
You might as well get to know the rest of me This is my anger, this is my shame
These are my insecurities that I can't explain
This is my fortress, crumbling 'round my feet
Take a good look, baby, this is all of me We all live under the same roof
We go by the same name
It saddens me to think that I cannot Turn back the hands of time This is my anger, this is my shame
These are my insecurities that I can't explain
This is my fortress, crumbling 'round my feet
Take a good look, baby This is my anger, these are my doubts
These are my emotions all strung out
This is my fortress crumbling 'round my feet
Take a good look, baby, this is all, this is all of me This is all of me, oh, this is all of me
This is all of me
