

Too Close to the Sun

David Usher

High above your atmosphere
Do they all still cheer for who they think we are?
And once more past the sun again
Feelings sinking in I think we've gone to far And why did you fly, did you burn?
Can't you learn from my mistakes?
I have made them so I know Bored, just one more cup of tea
All the stars and me they'll teach me how to shine
'Cause life it's so much colder here
I'll absorb your fears and bury them inside And why did you fly, did you burn?
Can't you learn from my mistakes?
I have made them so I know You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun Things we found so lovely, turn so ugly
I've grown nakeder day by day
It's quite disarming I find it alarming
When everybody's listening Why did you fly, did you burn?
Can't you learn from what we've learned?
I can't see you anymore You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
You're too close to the sun
