The Reckoning

Godhead

Come to me, kill for me, worship me
Follow everything I do, act it out before me
I'm the one they told you, would come again
Let me show you all the signs to bring about the endI'll take you down to a hole where you will always be alone
I'll turn you out on a world that doesn't care if you belong
I'll push you off from that throne that you erected for yourself
You will be tossed on a pile of all the filth that you createdI watched you take the power in your hands and throw it all away
I knew you would fall down again somedayCome on now, you know I won't hurt you
Come on now, I'm here to protect you
Come on now, I'll lead you to shelter
Come on now, you knowI'll take you down to a hole where you will always be alone
I'll turn you out on a world that doesn't care if you belong
I'll push you off from that throne that you erected for yourself
You will be tossed on a pile of all the filth that you createdI'll take you down to a hole where you will always be alone
I'll turn you out on a world that doesn't care if you belong
I'll push you off from that throne that you erected for yourself
You will be tossed on a pile of all the filth that you created

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/