

The Reckoning

Godhead

Come to me, kill for me, worship me
Follow everything I do, act it out before me
I'm the one they told you, would come again
Let me show you all the signs to bring about the end I'll take you down to a hole where you will always be alone
I'll turn you out on a world that doesn't care if you belong
I'll push you off from that throne that you erected for yourself
You will be tossed on a pile of all the filth that you created I watched you take the power in your hands and throw it all away
I knew you would fall down again someday Come on now, you know I won't hurt you Come on now, I'm here to protect you Come on now, I'll lead you to shelter
Come on now, you know I'll take you down to a hole where you will always be alone
I'll turn you out on a world that doesn't care if you belong
I'll push you off from that throne that you erected for yourself
You will be tossed on a pile of all the filth that you created I'll take you down to a hole where you will always be alone
I'll turn you out on a world that doesn't care if you belong
I'll push you off from that throne that you erected for yourself
You will be tossed on a pile of all the filth that you created

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>