

Cabaret

Emmylou Harris

Cabaret - Emmylou Harris - soundtrack from "Because of Winn-Dixie" You once dreamed of castles and merry go rounds

To be Cinderella in an Alice movie Now side streets and back beats and what might have been lead you to nowhere again and again The curtain is calling, come take your bow, its getting too late for turning back now Can you still believe that lifes a cabaret and fairy tales will carry you away
Its closing time and your left on your own
And only you can find a way back home You look under rainbows look over the lies
You look for an answer in anyones eyes Reach out for lovers in too many beds Reach for the needle but cant hold a thread Whiskey and roses fill your loving cup leaving you empty when the suns coming up And you still believe that lifes a cabaret
and fairy tales will carry you away
When loneliness is the world youve ever known
And only you can find the way back home That knight in shining armor, you know hell never come On to the cabaret old chum Do you still believe that lifes a cabaret, that fairy tales will carry you away
Its closing time and your left on your own
And only you can find a way back home
The way back home, the way back home, the way back home
