You Are Not

Young Guns

Lonely, lonely, undefined you say you take your time, i say you hide away lonely, lonely hard to shine whey the don't notice you at all sink further every day You're only so lonely
and I never had a doubt you don't even know me
still you pass your judgment out when you belong
you're just a face in the crowd, you're only lonely so lonely, like everybody else lonely, lonely, little fly you say they pay you no mind I say theres a better way you hang yourself in your web drawn and quartered out the more you hurt
the more you heal, the more you'll figure out

you're only so lonely
and I never had a doubt
you don't even know me
still you pass your judgment out
when you belong
your just a face in the crowd
you're only lonely so lonely, like everybody else
you are not a diamond
you are not a shining star doesn't mean you are not perfect exactly as you are
you're only so lonely
and I never had a doubt
you don't even know me
still you pass your judgment out
when you belong
your just a face in the crowd

you're only lonely so lonely, like everybody else
you are not a diamond
you are not a shining star
doesn't mean you are not perfect
exactly as you are

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/