

James Brown (7" Version)

Cabaret Voltaire

Everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. When it comes, it falls in pieces.
Eating holes and gems unbound.
Birds and hearts and flags and everything. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Money matters. Does mercy matter?
Suddenly, as things are clearer,
See the sights are getting nearer. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Money matters. Does mercy matter?
Suddenly, as things are clearer,
See the sights are getting nearer. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Money matters. Does mercy matter?
Suddenly, as things are clearer,
See the sights are getting nearer. Everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. I said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. When it comes, it falls in pieces.
Eating holes and gems unbound.
Birds and hearts and flags and bugs. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power. Said, everything. Devoured.
I learn to hold my, will power.

Songwriters

RICHARD HAROLD KIRK, STEPHEN WILLIAM MALLINDER Published by Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>