The Mourning After (carry On)

Kamelot

I just had a dream She was by the riverside Alone and dressed in white Paling in the cold Walking on the icy face On memories of glory days Carry on Carry on Meet me on the other side Once the morning after turns to day Carry on Carry on Carry on Keep on to the other side The morning after slowly fades

How could I have known Just the thought is simply wild In her womb a little child I am left to roam On the surface of a dream In a world that can't be seen Carry on Carry on Just you carry on Till the morning is over Carry on Just you carry on Just you carry on Till the morning after leaves
