

Noise

Colton Dixon

Every day is a car alarm
That I don't know how to disarm
Where is the silence
That simple silence Every day is a time bomb
Ticking louder till it goes off
Where is the silence
Where is it hiding Cause everything is noise
Everything is screaming out
Everything has come alive, oh
But I'm getting lost in the sound
I need to hear Your voice
Reminding me that at the end of the day
No matter what goes down I'll be OK
Even through the noise I'm looking high and I'm looking low
It's the same any place I go
Where is the silence
Where is it hiding Gonna come what may be
But things are getting kind of crazy
Where is the silence
Can't get no silence Cause everything is noise
Everything is screaming out
Everything has come alive, oh
But I'm getting lost in the sound
I need to hear Your voice
Reminding me that at the end of the day
No matter what goes down I'll be OK
Even through the noise Whisper my name, whisper my name
When it's getting too high
Whisper my name, whisper my name
Tell me that it's alright Whisper my name, whisper my name
When it's getting too high
Whisper my name, whisper my name
Tell me that it's alright Cause everything is noise
Everything is screaming out
Everything has come alive, oh
But I'm getting lost in the sound
I need to hear Your voice
Reminding me that at the end of the day
No matter what goes down I'll be OK

Even through the noise
Even through the noise
