Richie Kotzen Lyrics
"The Damned"

You say you're gonna help me see things in a way that's too real
I really wanna talk to you but I know you already made my deal
I've been driving all night, been running from the truth
And [?] tryna cut it loose

You got all your believers
You water's onion blue
But your hands are stained in red

Somehow I believe you, but I know you manipulate the truth
The way it's getting heavy, I don't know what I should do
You got me wrapped up, somehow I'm so confused
But if you lead me to the fire I'm gonna light the fuse

A shrine for believers
[?] you can't escape
It all looks so good with the lights off
You say let me slip into your deepest dream
And I will show you love

Goddamn me for believing in you
Goddamn your system, makes me do the things I do
Insert your knife, it's your nature to be cruel
Goddamn me for believing in you

Oh, I'm the damned

Right where you want me and I know I'm stuck in my shoes
I follow up on this man now I'm broke from paying dues
You're not a failure, and now I know
When you belong to the unknown they never let you go

A shrine for believers
I know that I can't escape
It always looks so good with the lights off
Won't you let me slip into your darkest dream

I will love you to love me

Goddamn me for believing in you
Goddamn your system, makes me do the things I do
Insert your knife, it's your nature to be cruel
Goddamn me for believing in you

Goddamn me for believing in you
Goddamn your system, makes me do the things I do
Insert your knife, it's your nature to be cruel
Goddamn me for believing in you

Oh, the damned
Will you ever let me go
Oh, I am the damned
