The Night Starts Here

Stars

The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fear

The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fearThe pleasure pot, the after thought

The missing stone in the graveyard

The time we had, the task at hand

The love it takes to become a manThe dust at dawn is rained upon

Attaches itself to everyone

No one is spared, no one is clean

It travels places you've never been or seen before The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fear

The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fearYou drop a coin into the sea

And shout out please come back to me

You name your child after your fear

And tell them I have brought you here The pleasure pot, the after shock

The moment that it takes to fall apart

The time we have, the task at hand

The love it takes to destroy a manThe ecstasy, the being free

A big black cloud over you and me

And after that, the upwards fall

And worry angels after all I don't know, I don't know The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fear

The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fearYou drop a coin into the sea

And shout out please come back to me

You name your child after your fear

And tell them I have brought you here The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fear

The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fearYou drop a coin into the sea

And shout out please come back to me

You name your child after your fear

And tell them I have brought you here The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fear

The night starts here, the night starts here

Forget your name, forget your fearYou drop a coin into the sea

And shout out please come back to me

You name your child after your fear

And tell them I have brought you here

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/