Globetrotter

Pothead

Well, I doped myself appropriately
So I could tell you
Risk strange diseases, take my chances
Like to know youWell, it matters like never before
I'II be knocking on your door
So I can tell you more and more
Tell you that I love you
For realI brace myself
I know my chances ain't so sure
So I coaxed myself hoping for the chance
That l can know you
Gonna make myself know
If it takes begging on your floor
I'd like to see you more and more
Then I can tell you that I love you
For realWell, l told myself
This is so good it can't be at all-true
Dreamed all my life of having my chance
Of knowing someone like youJust like I said before
When I called you on the phone
I just a have to tell you once more
Tell you that I love you
For real
I'm embracing the unknown
Hold your hand and walk you home
Then you say I'm all alone
Baby, I love you
For realWell, I best myself appropriately
So I could tell you
You're right down deep inside my soulWell, abandon my life from before
I've been sleeping on your floor
And I'd walk the world-to four corners
To tell you that I love you
For real
