Lonely Street

Gene Vincent

I walk a lonely path, one that must look down and laugh
And if this is your epitaph, you're not aloneI walk a lonely road, ruled by some unrigid code
And no one here can ease the load
You're on your ownI walk a lonely beat, tears like rain upon the street why can't they wash away my destiny?
I'm all aloneI walk a lonely lane, why no one know spride nor shame
No one here remembers their own name
They're all aloneI walk a lonely street, and in the shadows you can see
A thousand faces, just like me
We're not alone
I walk a lonely street, I walk a lonely street
I walk alone
