Untouchable

Murmurs

No one can take to place of you
Nobody in the world touches me like you do
And I know, yes, I know you're touchable
And I know, yes, I know you're touchable
No one knows me like you do
Nobody comprehends the pain I'm going through
Except you
But you I know you're untouchable
I accept you're untouchable
You never wanted
What I always needed
And I always needed a door
Trapped in a room full of wonderful colours
You left because you needed more
And we knew from the start we were jumping the gun
I never thought that I'd be the one
Trapped in a room full of wonderful colours
Just me
It's not nearly as bright
I'm afraid of the dark
Its all turning black
I can't see
No one can hurt me like you do
No one will ever know the love I have for you
But they'll know
Yes they'll know you're untouchable
And they'll know
Yes they'll know you're untouchable
You never wanted what I always wanted I always needed a door
Leave me here, I want to be untouchable
I close the door behind you
Now I'm untouchable too
