Bleach

All I know is that this falling star will die
For a moment light the sky and lead me home
I don't know why this task has been so hard

We've spent our time apart but not alone
This is what I have been given I hope that you can
I hope that you can understand there are reasons beyond ours

The creator holds the stars up in the sky

But you are by far the brightest shining star in the sky tonight
This is what I have been given the hardest part is living

With leaving you alone

This is what I have been given the hardest part is living
With leaving you alone

Alone alone, we're not alone
Just like all the rest of them I can't bring you down
You're a million miles from here

But you are by far the brightest shining star in the sky tonight
This is what I have been given the hardest part is
living

With leaving you alone
