The Villagers

Iggy Pop

The villagers are out tonight, uptight and bored
They're pushing you underground
On wintry days they stand and gaze
Outlined in black and ignorant villagersDark shadows house a sleepy malice
In the back brain of every body you meet

Man is the village animal
United by the glue of our loathsome qualitiesWe are sneaking peeping toms
In revolt against each other

The villagers are most insane

They live to die anonymousAnd muted to villagers

In revolt against the other

But not against the rules

So in the space age the village idiot rulesOn TV for all to see as some good men

Walk the streets

Unh, unh, unh, unh, unh
Unh, unh, unh, unhThe villagers, argh
You can't get lost, you can't get lost
In the village of space
You can't get lost
