The World Keeps Turning

Evan Taubenfeld

Lombard Street a car flips over
And people gather there are flashing lights
The driver cries on some one's shoulder
Is his friend alright?
And five blocks down a groom leans closer
As he starts to kiss his wife
She's so happy that he chose her
And it's in her eyes
The best day of her life
As the world keeps turnin
I know that your gone
And I'm finally learnin
How I was wrong
And it feels so different
With out you I'm lost in it all
Jamie's finally getting sober
The social worker said she's doin fine
Readin letters her kids wrote her
She hasn't seen them in the longest time

It's hard to understand
If there's a bigger plan
When you've got nowhere to go
But the world keeps turnin
I know that your gone
And I'm finally learnin
How I was wrong
And it feels so different
Without you I'm lost in it all
Some times I stumble and fall
Some times I'm left feelin small
You were too good for me
I was too blind to see
That everything was my fault
As the world keeps turnin
I know that your gone
And I'm finally learnin
How to be strong
And it feels so different

With out you I'm lost in it all
