

Small Town Girls

Gary Barlow

Small town girls live life sweetly
They don't waste time dreaming of opportunity
Small town girls learn quickly
They live for who they are not who they wanna be
Upon the greenest grass they laugh and grow
The man who makes the boundaries no one knows Small town girls they make the whole world turn
Don't get their fingers burned quite as easy as the rest, oh oh
Small town girls they make my heart collapse
It's such a shame the Bible never said that
The foundations of the world they are built on small town girls
Small town girls stop at nothing
They take no prisoners, never try small talking
And what they have is quite unique
Their hearts are big enough to wear on their sleeves
Upon the greenest grass they laugh and grow
The man who makes the boundaries no one knows Small town girls they make the whole world turn
Don't get their fingers burned quite as easy as the rest, oh oh
Small town girls they make my heart collapse
It's such a shame the Bible never said that
The foundations of the world they are built on small town girls Everybody knows they're quite a chase
When everybody looks they hide their face
Small town girls are innocent
With rosy cheeks and grassy knees their life is heaven sent
Most girls marry young and have some kids
Who am I to tell them what they've missed

Songwriters

GARY BARLOW Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>