Obsidian Kingdom

We thought it was exaggeration
We thought the papers were all wrong
The GRPs were selling fast and pricey
But still the facts remained unknown We thought it was the last agenda setting
But everything just comes and goes
We thought it would be just a passing shadow
As everything just comes and goes And then the shelves became quite meager
A sight we weren't used at all
All planes were booked and trains were rather crowded
And warmer clothes became the norm We thought it was the last agenda setting
But everything just comes and goes
And still we thought it'd be a passing shadow
As everything just comes and goes
