Head For The Hills

Saves the Day

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Burning a door in the back of my mind
Lying alone in the morning
I feel like swallowing my eyes
I walk around the house until
My feet begin to bleed
Still I can't forget somehowDrowning in the darkness of my mind
I dream I'm setting fire to everything in sight
And if I die tonight and go to Hell, oh well
On that hill I see youCut off my legs when you tell me to walk
Slit my own throat when you say to talk
I've been swallowing your lies
And I recall you asked about
The one you used to know
I know him nowDrowning in the darkness of my mind
I dream I'm setting fire to everything in sight
And if I die tonight and go to Hell, oh well
On that hill I see youMy heart is burning black
My bones are cold and cracked
The venom flushed out my veins
And if you ever knew what I'm dreaming of
You would head for the hillsYou'd better head for the hills
You'd better head for the hillsDrowning in the darkness of my mind
I dream I'm setting fire to everything in sight
And if I die tonight and go to Hell, oh well
On that hill I see you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/