A Life That's Just Begun

Lo-Pro

You're a shadow of what you used to be
And I don't know who's staring back at me
But it's too late for you
There's nothing else left that I can say to youIt's too late
I won't say goodbye again
It's too late
I won't waste my time again'Cause you're waiting
For a day that will never come
And you're missing
A life that's just begunIt's a long road to nowhere
But you're already there
And it's too late for you
There's only so much that I can to youIt's too late
I won't say goodbye again
It's too late
I won't change my mind again'Cause you're waiting
For a day that will never come
And you're missing
A life that's just begunIt was always in sight
And it already feels right
It was never really hard to find
And we were never really out of time'Cause you're waiting
For a day that will never come
And you're missing
A life that's just begun

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/