Red Balloon

Codi Kreil

Little child lost balloon. Red on a rip on; blue. Flies above the city streets. Waiting for it's air, to leave.

Little child searches high, and low. Swims into the sky and out, the window. Once so tightly in a cell.

Balloon wonders where it's gonna land. See i'm running, with my head down. See i'm left but now, free but full of doubt.

Now i'm trying, trying to run, to follow around. If it's worth it to come down. To only people on the ground.

And I wonder what I did wrong. Brings on the fingers of everyone. Do they wonder just like me?

If dreams will ruin life eventually. I will wonder the rest waiting. Say how long it's been, deflating.

I ask the moon, I ask the sun. Have you seen my love for one. Have you seen my love for one.

'Cause i'm running, with my head down. See i'm left but now, free but full of doubt.

Now i'm trying, trying to run, to follow it around. If it's worth it to come down. To only people on the ground.

How long, long must I wait to fall. How long, long must I wait to fall. 'Cause i'm running with my head, down.

Left but lost, free but full of doubt. I'm trying, trying to find ground. If it's worth it to come down.

If it's worth it to come down. To only people on the ground.

Lyrics Submitted by Presley Nickel

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/