1492

Counting Crows

I'm a Russian, Jew, American Impersonating African, Jamaican

What I want to be is an Indian

I'm gonna be a cowboy in the endI guess I bought a gun

Because it impresses all the little girls I see

And then they all wanna sleep with meOh, where did we disappear

Into the silence that surrounds us

And then drowns us in the end

Where these people who impersonate our friends

Say come again, come againInto the dark Italian underground

With disco lights and disco sounds

And skinny girls who drink champagne

Then they take me on their knees again And pull me up and out the door

Past railway cars and tranny-whores

And mornings spreading out across

The feathered thighs of angelsOh, were did we disappear

To the silence that surrounds us

And then drowns us in the end

Will they try to get you out to pull you in

And all these people, they've been, come againIn 1492, Columbus sailed the ocean blue In 1493, he came home across the deep blue sea

In 1494, he did it with the girl next doorIn 1495, he barely made it out alive

In 1964, [unverified] busting out the door

In 1970, some people got their hands on meNow I am the king of everything

I am the king of nothing now

I am the king of everything

I am the king of nothingOh, where did we disappear

To the silence that surrounds us

And then drowns us in the end

Where these people who impersonate our friends

Say come again, come again, come, come againOh, where did we disappear

To the silence that surrounds us

And then drowns us in the end

When they try to push you out to get you in

And all these people who impersonate our friends

Say come again, come again, come

Come again, come again, come again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/