

War?

System Of A Down

Dark is the light, the man you fight
With all your prayers, incantations
Running away, a trivial day
Of judgment and deliverance
To whom was sold, this bounty soul
A gentile or a priest?
Who victored over, the Seljuks
When the holy land was taken?
We will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens
We will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens
Was it the riches of the land
Powers of bright darkness?
That lead the noble to the East
To fight the heathens
We will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens
We will fight the heathens, we will fight the evil
No wait we will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens
No wait we will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens

We must call upon our bright darkness
Beliefs, they're the bullets of the wicked
One was written on the sword
For you must enter a room to destroy it, destroy it, destroy it
No international security, no call of the righteous man
Needs a reason to kill man, history teaches us so
Reason he must attain, must be approved by his God
His child, partisan brother of war
Of war, we don't speak anymore
We will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens
We will fight the heathens, we will fight the evil
No we will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens
No we will fight the heathens, we will fight the heathens

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>