

Hard To Live In The City

Albert Hammond, Jr.

Well, it's hard to live, it's hard to live in the city
Yes, it's hard to live, so hard to live in the city I've been following you for blocks
And I wish that you would stop and tell me your name
But I couldn't understand
What you told me as you ran away So just lay your head down low
Don't let anybody know
That it's hard to live, it's hard to live in the city
Yes, it's hard to live, it's hard to live in the city There's something about you that I couldn't tell
And you were always crazy and I didn't like that There's something about you that I knew so well To all those questions, I have no answers
I wish that I could sit in the sun So just lay your head down low
Don't let anybody know
That it's hard to live, it's hard to live in the city
Yes, it's hard to live, so hard to live in the city What are you asking? No need for walking out
You took all I could keep
You couldn't even tell me, the look was on your face
I'll think that we have left To all those questions, I have no answers
I wish that I could sit in the sun

Songwriters

LEROY VINNEGAR Published by

Lyrics © CONCORD MUSIC GROUP, INC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>